19" Regina

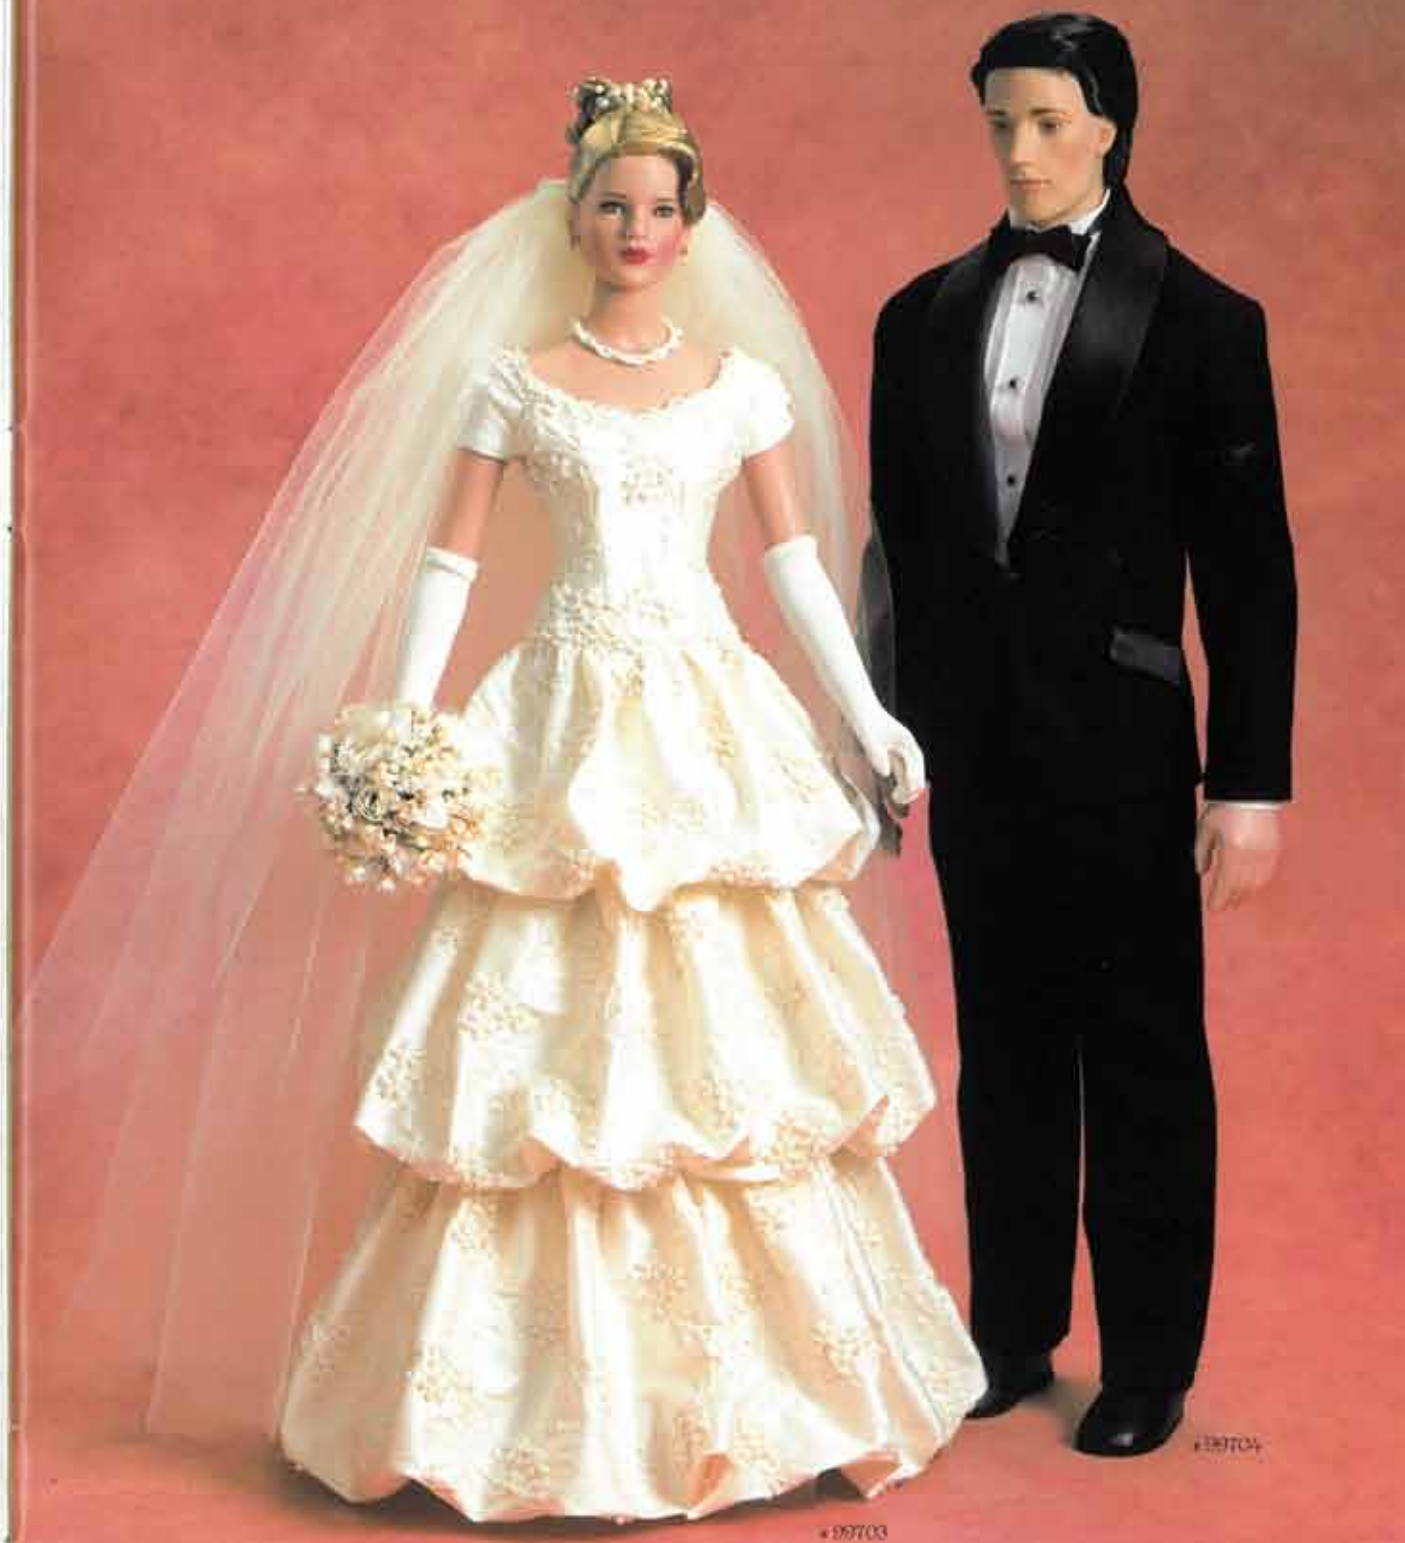

Regina glides effortlessly in an Empire-waisted gown of scarlet satin. The strapless bodice is hand embroidered with a spray of tiny glass beads and accented by a spaghetti-thin bow. The back of the A-line skirt descends into a sweeping train. Regina's shoulders are wrapped in a dramatic two-tiered bubble jacket. The top tier is made of exquisite hand-beaded scarlet lace, and the bottom tier pulls the outfit together with the same scarlet satin as the dress. Red satin gloves, a Y-necklace, and a striking beaded coil complete this stunning doll.

19" Felicity Bride

The 1999 bride swoops down the aisle in a gown that is fit for the millennium while being mindful of the past. It starts simply, with a bodice of the oceanic silk shantung embroidered with tiny sequins and clusters of pearls, then the skirt busts forth in a floor-length, triple-tiered meringue of bubbled, beaded silk. She wears traditional elbow-length gloves and carries a bouquet of the purest ivory flowers. Her hair is elegantly plaited and then sewn through with tiny pearls, and a fine tulle veil spills down her back from a satin bow headpiece.

21" Eric

At last! The man of the hour! Eric arrives in a sleek black tuxedo of the finest wool. The pants are pleated in front with on-seam pockets and a satin stripe down either side. The jacket is expertly tailored and fully lined, with a satin shawl collar, angled pocket flaps, and a one-button closure. Eric's tuxedo shirt is fine white cotton with multiple tucks, shiny black studs, and black cuff links. He is accessorized with a black satin bow tie, cummerbund, and leather tuxedo flats. Underneath it all he sports heart-printed boxers.

19" Jasmine

Elegantly coiled head held high, Jasmine takes her turn on the catwalk. She is as slim as a reed in a gown of maize silk shantung accentuated by scalloped trim embroidered with tiny maize pearls and flowers. In contrast with the strong vertical lines of the gown, its bodice is shirred horizontally to where it joins the straight skirt extending to the floor. The look is accessorized with a creamy pearl bracelet and a triangular shawl lined in creamy satin.

19" Decades of Fashion

- All in a series - 1950's
Cocktails, anyone? The fourth in this series wears a gown true to the style of Dior's New Look. The fabric is a dreamy gray organza covered in a print of silver roses and shimmering sparkles. A shirred bust turns into a fitted bodice from which swells a skirt so full that it floats. The deep V of the neckline is accentuated with a dainty rhinestone necklace, and matching bracelet adorn either wrist. Her hair is cut in the classic 1950's bob, and her lips are a brilliant red.

19" Iris

A hush falls over the crowd as Iris makes her entrance onto the runway. She wears a silk shantung gown in a delicate shade of lilac with a plunging neckline. Lilac pearl embroidery forms the bodice ending mid-hip, where a dramatic splay of silk bursts into a floor-length skirt with a slight train that is accentuated by a double-tiered bow. A necklace and bracelets of tiny lilac pearls and aureora borealis make her shimmer. Iris's platinum blonde hair is carefully styled into a mass of elegant twists.

14" Clara

Clara dreams she is a princess in her hand-smocked blush pink batiste nightgown. Its elegantly ruffled bishop collar frames her pink cheeks, and a golden crown decorated with crystals perches atop her soft hair. Beneath her nightie she wears lacy pantalets and a full-length slip, and her feet are shod in sweet pink ballet slippers.

19" Sugar Plum Fairy

The Sugar Plum Fairy takes to the stage in a breathtaking gown of gossamer silk organza. Its fitted bodice is stunningly embroidered with "sugar plums" of sequins and beads. The yoke of her skirt is smocked with tiny crystal beads that scatter to the hem. Layers and layers of glittering tulle form her tutu, and her head is crowned with a sparkling tiara.

14" Nutcracker Prince

The handsome Nutcracker Prince is ready to defend Clara against the evil Mouse King. He wears a brilliant red velvet jacket embroidered on the front, back, and sleeves with crests of black and gold. His cream-colored trousers are neatly tucked into his shiny black leather boots, and a black taffeta sash holds his beautiful golden sword at the ready. Upon his head is a golden crown bejeweled with glittering red stones.

14" Miss Muffet

Our Miss Muffet is dressed in a frock of blue silk shantung hand-embroidered with pale pink roses. The hem of her skirt is trimmed with a triple tier of silk ruffles, and a delicate pink silk ribbon runs through entredeux at the neckline and sleeve cuffs. She wears dainty batiste bloomers and a tulle slip. Her tuffet is of the same blue silk as her dress, embroidered with a matching rose motif.

7" Icele Fairy

Listen closely for the tinkling of icicles when this little fairy flies by. She wears a silver iridescent dotted body suit with a matching overskirt, from which hangs a double row of glittering "icicles"—strings of tiny iridescent beads. A silver dotted hood keeps her head warm, and shimmering wings carry her through icy winter wonderlands.

style # 99100 • porcelain limited edition 500

7" Sunbeam Fairy

Here comes the sun! The Sunbeam Fairy glitters in a tutu of gold tulle trimmed with a gold bow. She wears gold lace tights, and tiny gold slippers cover her feet. A shiny starburst radiates from her face, and gossamer wings carry her on her daily journey from east to west.

Alice Liddell was the child for whom Lewis Carroll (Charles Dodgson) wrote Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass. He was an avid photographer, and thus many photos of the little girl still exist, inspiring these two dolls dressed in the style of the late 1800's.

8" Alice Liddell Summer in the Park

For a day in the park with her friend, Mr. Dodgson, Alice wears a blue and white batiste dress trimmed in delicate white lace. Tiny pearl buttons proceed down the front to a smart sash trimmed in blue satin ribbon. The double-tiered skirt is held aloft by a proper cotton petticoat, and dainty white cotton bloomers peek out from underneath. Not pictured is Alice's finely woven straw hat trimmed with ribbon and flowers, which protects her face from the sun.

8" Alice Liddell Winter Stroll

Alice is dressed as a proper young lady in her winter costume of salmon iridescent silk shantung with brown soutache trim. A smart bolero with kimono sleeves goes over her white batiste blouse with sparkly brown buttons, and her full skirt is held in place by a belt with an antiqued buckle. Her head is crowned with a flecked brown hat trimmed with white feathers, and she carries a tiny silk purse.
